

My Perfect Headline Generator

You'll never have writers block again when you create your content.

Here are dozens of proven templates and idea generators to create headlines. Marketers are using headlines just like these to get attention for their articles, press releases, blogs, vlogs and email subject lines. Now you can too!

I've collected many from actual headlines I've seen and in public domain resources, and added my own. You can easily find dozens of others on the web by reading any newspaper, blog, YouTube channel as well as emails you receive from your trusted sources. You'll find these kinds of templates in hundreds of pieces of content so you know they are widely accepted.

To use a template you'll need three things:

1. Your subject, i.e. publicity.
2. The result of your service or product, i.e. make more sales
3. Flexibility to adapt the headlines to meet your needs by correcting for grammar or adding words that make the headline make more sense.

Then insert your words into the template and you'll be all set although some might require a little tender love and care to turn into proper grammar to fit your situation.

If you have questions, ask me anything!

Send emails to dan@prleads.com with "Question about headlines" in the subject line.

We also provide discounts on distributing press releases via PR Newswire, the #1 credible source of press releases for reporters. See info at PressReleaseSender.com

I also provide short-term consulting for only $250 per hour. To schedule an appointment, go to meetme.so/PRLEADS and schedule two 30 minute sessions back to back. We'll send you payment information via PayPal.
